

ICARE Committee Report January, 2015

ICARE has been very busy in the past several months. We now have 69 members, 5 renewals and 1 new member.

ICARE sponsored a “Mystery History” day with the author Sally Walker during December. Sally writes non-fiction books about the mysteries of either science or social studies topics. Over 250 students from three Chicago schools came to DePaul University for this event. Sally mesmerized the students with her experiences with her stories of working along side of archeologists who discovered a village under a church during the 1600’s. She provided great details of how one goes about researching and writing about mysteries of our history. The students had many questions, which she answered. Parents of the students made it a point to let us know how powerful her message was!
